

CONFIDENCE IS WELL MAINTAINED

Financial Market Has Better Tone, With Supporting Evidence of Assurance.

New York, Oct. 23.—Financial confidence was well maintained last week, and confirmation was found in some of the news for that confidence as it had been expressed in the previous advance in prices of stocks.

The publication of the statistics of the country's foreign sentiment because of its evidence of a decisive turn from the abnormal excess of import value over exports in evidence for the earlier months of the year.

The dispute with foreign bankers over cotton bolls and stimulants, exports in anticipation of the time limit for the old rules. The extension of the operation of the old rules for cotton bolls to December 31 removes the pressure for rushing cotton exports and is likely to affect the next monthly showing on that account.

Discount Rate Raised.
The Bank of England added to the importance of the exchange situation by raising its official discount rate from 4 to 5 per cent last week. The action was prompted, it is said, in part, by the outbreak of speculation in the New York stock market and the desire to check the placing of finance bills in London by the New York bankers to secure resources for carrying on the speculation.

Decrease in Foodstuffs.
Exports Fall Off While Manufactured Exports Show an Increase During September.

Washington, Oct. 23.—The increase in exportation of manufactured goods and decrease in exportation of foodstuffs are again illustrated by the September export figures published by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor. Practically all of the manufactures enumerated in its list of 50 principal articles showed an increase, and nearly all of the foodstuffs show a decrease, while most of the manufactures' raw materials show also an advance.

Copper, lumber, agricultural implements, upper leather, sole leather, cotton cloths, lubricating oil, naphtha, oil cake and meal, builders' hardware, sheets and plates of iron and steel, scientific instruments, boots and shoes, automobiles, India rubber manufactures, pipes and fittings, wire, sewing machines, electrical machinery, metal-working machinery, structural iron and steel, cotton wearing apparel and patent medicines, showed increased exportations during the month, while illuminating oil, paraffin, naval stores and steel rails show in each case a slight decline. Of the leading foodstuffs exported, flour, wheat, hams and shoulders, also oil, lard, compounds, cottonseed oil, fresh beef and cattle show a decrease; while bacon, lard, corn and refined sugar show a slight increase.

Among the manufactures' materials raw cotton and bituminous coal show an increase, while leaf tobacco, furs and fur skins show a decline. In that part of the statement which shows the exports for nine months the rate of increase in exports of manufactures and decline in exports of foodstuffs is equally apparent.

NEW DIRECTORY FOR TUBERCULOSIS

National Association Soon to Issue Book Filled With Information.

New York, Oct. 23.—Active preparations for the publishing of a new tuberculosis directory will be begun next week by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis at its New York headquarters.

The directory will contain up-to-date lists of all hospitals, sanatoria, dispensaries and associations engaged in the war against consumption. A summary of what has been done by the various state legislatures and the county and municipal governing bodies will be included in the book. It will be the complete report of the anti-tuberculosis campaign that has been carried out in this country.

The growth of the crusade against tuberculosis is shown to good advantage in the two directories that have been issued in the one in preparation.

The first tuberculosis directory, published in 1904, by the tuberculosis committee of the New York Charity Organization society and the national association, listed 133 sanatoria and hospitals for consumptives in the United States, and some of the preliminary provision only had been made.

The combined capacity of these institutions was 8,000 beds, and the two special dispensaries and thirty-nine anti-tuberculosis organizations summed up practically all of the fighting force enumerated in the first directory.

The second directory was prepared by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis and published under the auspices of the Russell Sage foundation in August, 1908. This directory listed 240 sanatoria and hospitals, an increase of 107 from the former directory; 163 dispensaries, an increase of 126 and 159 associations, an increase of 156. The number of hospital beds listed in 1908 was 14,041.

The new directory that will be issued soon will list over 400 sanatoria and hospitals, with a bed capacity of nearly 25,000; more than 200 special tuberculosis dispensaries and fully 450 anti-tuberculosis associations and committees. Since the first directory was issued in 1904 the increase in the number of agencies fighting consumption aggregates nearly 500 per cent.

The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis would like to get in touch with all agencies engaged in the fight against tuberculosis, in order that they may be listed in the new directory.
